OPTICAL

SPECIALIST

GRADUATE FROM PHILADELPHIA OPTICAL COLLEGE.

SPECTACLES & EYE GLASSES

Fitted in the most scientific manner. Oculist Prescriptions Carefully Filled.

ARTIFICIAL EYES

OF THE BEST MAKES INSERTED WITH THE SAME PRECAUTIONS AS IN HOSPITALS.

A FRIEND'S ADVICE.

Don't read lying down. Don't allow a cold wind to strike the eyes. Don't try to do eye work with the light shining in the face. Don't have colored shades on the nose; use white or ground glass. Don't go directly from a warm room into a cold atmosphere. Don't open the eyes in cold water in bathing, especially in winter. Don't let any strong light, such as that from electricity, shine directly on your eyes. Don't strain the eyes by any, or any like occupation, with an intense light. Don't bathe inflamed eyes with cold water; that which is as it can be borne is better. Don't sit close to a window in such manner that the light will strike the eyes on the face. Don't, above all, have the eyes open sleep so that the morning sun shall shine in their faces to arouse them. Don't expect to get another pair of eyes when these have been destroyed by neglect or ill-use; but give them their fair treatment, and they will serve faithfully to the end. Don't forget that

In making this report of the schools we shall not follow the usual custom of reporting each separately, but shall speak of them as a whole, save in one instance, making a few suggestions on work in the schoolroom, urging the advisability and obligation of parents to become more closely allied with the teacher, and to co-operate with the school officials for the advancement of education.

As this is the first year since the abolishing of the district system, we feel it our duty to allow the people of the town to fully understand the methods adopted in supplying our schools with teachers.

The committee posted notices in conspicuous places, giving the full time required by law, for all persons desiring positions, to meet at Waterboro Centre on a certain day for examination. Different studies were assigned each member of the committee and at the examination each conducted the part assigned him.

Teachers responded to the call, took a written examination, going away with not even the promise of a school, each depending on his or her examination to secure for them a position.

At a meeting of the board at a later date, teachers were assigned to the districts to which in the minds of the board they were best suited, the wages also being determined by the committee.

We are confident this method will commend itself to the public, as it guards against the unjust method often employed by district agents of hiring a teacher, who may be a particular friend, and paying nearly double the amount which would be required to hire some other teacher equally as good scholar, and quite as successful in the schoolroom.

Another thing which will commend the present method to the honest thinking people is the equality of school weeks, as none can honestly think that because a child is placed in a small district he should have but four and one-half or five months of school while one in the larger receives eight or nine.

As the school money is raised eighty cents on each inhabitant in town instead of each scholar, as some think, it is only justice that all should have an equal number of school weeks.

This has been done past year, giving each twenty-two weeks except in one instance, where on account of sickness the winter term was shortened three weeks. Lengthening the terms in the small districts has made it necessary to shorten them in the larger, yet none can question its justice.

The schools as a whole for the past year have been an improvement on years past although nearly the same teachers have been employed, but the fact that each teacher was placed in the position best suited to both teacher and school is sufficient to explain this improvement, for it is a fact well known to all having experience in school matters that the same teacher may be a grand success in one school and a grand failure in another although working equally as hard in one place as the other.

The abolishing of the district system has made it possible to overcome this obstacle in a great measure.

In the schoolroom perfect harmony and kind feelings should exist between teacher and pupil, but neither should forget that good order is absolutely necessary for the success of any school.

The pupil should not forget that it is his duty to see that such order reign and it is the duty of the teacher to see that such order shall reign whether the pupil wills that it be so or not, and if any have failed in this respect we urge them with the kindest feelings to see that it shall not occur in the future.

Great assistance to teachers might be given by parents making visits to the schools. This would give them a better idea of the labors of a teacher and at the same time encourage the pupils to try harder for advancement.

One thing which we all as teachers should remember is that methods of teaching twenty years ago will not do for today. This is an age of progression and we should "be up with the times." To do this we should not be content with commencing a term of school teaching and closing the same never thinking of school again until ready to apply for another, believing that our methods are superior to all others but should visit the schools of those who may have more modern ideas, read some good educational journal profiting thereby. This should not only be a pleasure but it is the duty of all persons who offer themselves as teachers.

It has been reported that schools have been created, where instead several should have been suspended. We shall give our reasons for doing as we have done, and we feel confident that no person of good sound judgment, throwing aside all prejudice, will question the justice of our acts.

After giving the matter due consideration your committee decided that as the districts were so far separated, if any school was suspended it would be necessary to furnish transportation. This would cost nearly as much as it would to support a school in the district, besides many of the smaller children would be deprived of the privilege of attending school, they being too small to send so far away.

The school above referred to as "being created" was in Dist. No. 8, better known as the Deering's Ridge School. If this school be suspended transportation must be furnished.

None could be engaged to carry the children for less than five dollars per week, and if transported only two would attend, the rest being too small to be sent away to another district, but if a school could be holden in No. 8 they would attend. Mrs. W. B. Deering, wife of a member of your committee very generously offered to teach the school for five dollars per week, the same as it would cost to transport the two.

Mrs. Deering adopted many of the kindergarten methods of teaching which proved a success and we consider the money very profitably expended.

The teachers employed for the year were :

HIGH SCHOOL.

We wish to make a few statements in regard to the Free High School, as we trust all are interested.

The actual cost to the town, for the maintenance of the Free High School thirty-four weeks will be less than two hundred and fifty dollars, making a weekly cost of less than seven dollars and thirty-six cents per week.

The school has been under the instruction of James B. McFadden, a graduate of Bates college and a man who is proud to claim Maine as his birthplace and home.

The first term was commenced under many difficulties, but notwithstanding the jeers and paper locals furnished by some person who had certainly anything but the welfare of the town and the education of the children at heart, it continued eleven weeks.

The attendance was small, being an average of twelve, still Mr. McFadden never failed to work for the success of the school.

At the commencement of the fall term it was evident that Waterboro High School had made a mark. The school from an average of twelve increased to an average of twenty, two being added to the school from Lyman.

At the commencement of the Winter term the number had increased to forty-five and it is safe to predict that the average for this term will be nearly forty.

The perfect harmony which has existed throughout the year, the attachment which has manifested itself between teacher and pupil and the close attention of each scholar to his work accounts for the rapid advancement of the school, and we may with the greatest confidence and pride place our school in the first ranks with any in the county, and if the town will continue to support a Free High School, Waterboro will send out graduates that will not only be an honor to themselves but an honor to the town of their birth.

In our visits to the different schools it was plain to see that there were enough bright, intelligent children to furnish scholars for our Free High School for years to come, but when we consider the fact that unless we have such a school, in town, many of those of whom we have spoken will not get an education, on account of inability to attend elsewhere, none ought to object to the small expenditure necessary to support the same.

Another fact all should consider is that for many years a large number of towns have maintained a Free High School, the State contributing to each town that would contribute a like amount two hundred and fifty dollars. Of course this town must pay its share of this money and if we send a scholar from this town we must pay tuition, thus paying our share of the State Aid and tuition besides. Now is it not time that we have our share of the State High School Aid thus giving the children of our own town an equal chance with those of other towns?

Previous to the commencement of the second term a three years' course was adopted which will compare very favorably with that of any High School in the state.

Each pupil upon entering the school is given his choice of either a Classical or an English course.

Hoping that all will accept this report with the same feelings of interest for the welfare of our schools, and the advancement of education, as those submitting it, we will subscribe ourselves,

Your obedient servants,
